MIKE COLLINS ASSASSINATED

HEARST'S WHITE HOUSE ROAD IS MADE ROCKIER

Has Little Chance for Governorship.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—William Randolph Hearst apparently has been eliminated as a formidable contender for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

The announcement by former Governor Al Smith that he would accept the nomination has aroused boundless enthusiasm among the Democrats, the usually inflated Hearst boom upstate has collapsed, seemingly beyond the possibility of resurrection, and all serious indications point to the choice of Smith, though possibly not without a very tight fight in the convention on Sept. 18.

As an aspirant to the presidency in 1924, however, Hearst is far from eliminated and, while unable to make himself a serious contender, he still has considerable influence at the polls.

His two facts furnish the key to the maneuvering now going on in the Democratic camp.

That Hearst looked upon the governorship as an easy stepping stone to the Democratic nomination for President has been admitted by the chief managers for his candidacy, and there is a widespread impression that his only reason for seeking the honor was to secure his larger ambition.

As a result he not only would acquire a position that would place him in the first rank of candidates for the Democratic nomination for President, but he would be in a position to make himself the choice of the New York delegation, an indispensable prerequisite.

Next to being governor himself the most important consideration to Hearst has been to place a friend in the office. That would insure him the nomination to the Democratic national convention, at least.

Now Al Smith, with the hearty approval of Tammany Hall, has upped Mr. Hearst's plans, and Mr. Hearst's long, long trail to the White House, upon which he set out many years ago, becomes rockier, if not also longer.

"Alphonse" Hearst still insists that "Gaston" Hyman must be nominated, instead of Smith, and "Gaston" Hyman, who his wife won't let him run, still insists that "Alphonse" Hearst must be the candidate, though in the light of the response to Smith's announcement it seems exceedingly unlikely that either could get the nomination anyway.

So, if neither Mr. Hearst nor his friend is to be governor, the influence publisher and movie magnate must rely upon other means of leading the New York delegation to the 1924 Democratic national convention.

This is a matter now occupying the attention of Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall and other Democratic leaders. The question is whether Mr. Hearst can be kept in line for a Democratic ticket headed by Smith. Could a temporary understanding be arrived at whereby Tammany would undertake to deliver the New York delegation to Hearst?

Hearty Wants Publisher's Aid.
Murphy doesn't want Hearst for a nomination, but he wants his support in the ticket. Otherwise the Democrats might be defeated by an independent candidacy or a third party ticket headed by Hearst. The publisher has around him Maj. La Guardia as his lieutenant for the Republican nomination for governor. La Guardia is a radical, and some call him a radical Republican, and under either tag, he has small chance of winning the Republican nomination. He would be, however, the logical leader of a third party movement headed by Hearst.

Years ago Hearst bought Smith as he knew him. He supported Alphonse Field Malone, an independent candidate who polled 50,000 votes, but enough to have changed the result, for Smith was defeated by La Guardia.

It has been suggested that Mr. Hearst might be pleased by nomination for senator on the Smith ticket. But that alone would not get him the New York delegation in 1924, because he would not think of running for senator unless Mayor La Guardia were the candidate for governor. Then he would have the delegation.

JOHN VOGELSANG TAKES POISON THROUGH ERROR

John A. Vogelsang, son of the late John Z. Vogelsang, whose West Madison street cafe for years was the haunt of the city's most prominent politicians, this morning is fighting for life in American hospital after taking bi-chloride of mercury tablets in his suite at the Sheridan Plaza hotel.

To the police he explained that he took the tablets by mistake for aspirin. Attempts to question Mrs. Vogelsang were vain. She had gone out early in the evening, it was said, and had not returned at midnight.

Vogelsang said he felt ill early in the evening and took the tablets, thinking they were aspirin. Then he had blinding pains in his head and stomach and called Dr. Newton D. Lee, hotel physician. Then it was discovered that the poison had been taken.

"Three hours had elapsed before I was called," said Dr. Lee. "That is a long start for bi-chloride of mercury."

The Vogelsangs' marriage was a war romance. While stationed on the staff at Fort Sheridan, Lieut. Vogelsang met pretty Miss Eleanor Wendland, doing her bit as a Red Cross nurse.

All those about the craft were understood to be included in the report that "the members of the crew" had been rescued.

Upon a report being received from the crew, a station tug was sent to assist in salvaging the seaplane. No other details were contained in the brief message received here.

According to the latitude and longitude, it was said that the seaplane must have come to grief in or near the Windward passage.

DOROTHY GIBBONS IS WED IN SECRET

Marries Sculptor Just After Divorce.

(Picture on back page.)
Made curious by her continued absence from north shore social functions, friends of Mrs. Dorothy Gibbons, recently divorced from Walter C. Gibbons, millionaire box manufacturer and son of the late Harry R. Gibbons, former county treasurer, discovered yesterday that less than two weeks after the divorce Mrs. Gibbons married George Ely Mulligan, widely known local sculptor.

The couple were married early in June at Crown Point and are living quietly at Bass Lake, Ind., where it is said Mulligan has established a studio.

Pupil of Taft.
Mulligan is a son of the late Charles J. Mulligan, nationally known sculptor, and himself is a student and protégé of Lorado Taft, whom he assisted in the production of the Washington park group known as the "Passing of Time."

The romance of Mrs. Gibbons and Mulligan had its inception, according to close friends, when Gibbons several months prior to his divorce commissioned the sculptor to execute a statue of Mrs. Gibbons.

The statue, which was being publicly exhibited, is said to have been destroyed when Mrs. Gibbons fled her suit for divorce, and several friends volunteered information that it was never finished.

"Cruelly, more mental than physical," was among the charges made by Mrs. Gibbons in her bill for divorce, and in which she placed much of the responsibility for her marital difficulties on her mother-in-law, Mrs. Harry R. Gibbons.

Slipped Her, She Said.
Testifying before Judge Joseph Sabath, in answer to questions by her attorney, Philip R. Davis, Mrs. Gibbons asserted that on Thanksgiving day, 1921, Gibbons slipped her and attempted to hurt her down a flight of stairs.

Mrs. Gibbons was awarded $5,000 cash in lieu of alimony and custody of their child, Shirley Ann, for whose maintenance Gibbons was ordered to pay $150 monthly.

Mrs. Gibbons, the daughter of John B. Shaw, wealthy Atlanta publisher, is a graduate of LaSalle seminary and well known as an artist and musician. During the war she was active in war work in Boston.

AUTO SHOT UP BY CONSTABLE; CROWE TO AC

An investigation into the activities of Anton Facion, village constable at Shermerville, will be launched today by the state's attorney's office, following the filing of charges against the official by Anton O. Franch, an autoist.

Franch, driving through Shermerville Sunday, passed an automobile on the left side. A small car containing Facion, dressed in farmer's clothing, drove alongside.

"He didn't say he was a police officer and I thought he was drunk, so I kept on going," said Franch. "A minute later he shot a hole in my gas-line tank."

Franch says Facion took him to a police magistrate, who fined him $10 for passing the automobile on the wrong side. He said when he came out of the courtroom Facion cursed him and promised to shoot him if he ever came through the village again.

credited with having "more than the voice of a delegate."

Many British politicians believed him to be the real force behind the Sinn Féin campaign. During the early talk about the proposed treaty he let it be known that "Michael Collins," war minister of the Irish republic, favored a "within the empire" dominion settlement with England and was willing to open negotiations on that basis.

Missed Death Several Times.

When threatened by the irreconcilables who wished to continue the struggle for complete independence he said: "We must have no disruption from within if we are to be a people worthy of governing ourselves." This was at Killarney on April 23, 1922, and he was surrounded by armed men not entirely friendly at the time.

The ambush that culminated in his assassination ended a series of attempts upon his life. On April 15 he was fired upon from ambush as he was returning from Naas after making a speech. The shots were fired as he was passing the Rutland square in Dublin just before midnight.

On last Friday his car was ambushed on the Dublin side of Rathfriland. A bomb was thrown, wrecking the automobile and the driver was hit by the fusillade of rifle and pistol shots which followed the explosion. The attempted assassination was said to be reprisal for the killing of Harry J. Boland, De Valera lieutenant.

Was to Have Been Married.

Romance, too, had its part in his stormy career. His engagement was announced last April to Miss Kitty Kiernan, an attractive young Irish girl of Oranmore, Lifford, whose name had recently come into prominence among the adherents of the Sinn Féin. Their marriage was to have occurred in the near future, it is said.

Mr. Collins was by far the youngest of the real leaders of Irish insurgency, being about 32 years old, according to his brother, Sergt. Patrick J. Collins of the Chicago police department. Ten years ago Michael Collins was given an opportunity to come to America with the promise of a position in a Chicago bank. He decided against the move, however, and later became an ardent member of the Sinn Féin.

His leadership of the Sinn Féin war movement plunged him into the very thick of adventure and during much of the time of his generalship he was fugitive with a price on his head and large parties of troops and police were ferreting the country for him.

Saved by His Plans.

It was during this period that the picturesque Irish leader made the acquaintance of Miss Kitty Kiernan, whom he later married. The Sinn Féin chiefs in County Londonderry were apprised one night that the hiding place of their leader had been discovered. A woman messenger was decided upon as the means least liable to awaken suspicion. Miss Kiernan was recommended.

She rode for hours on horseback through a rough, mountainous country. A sentinel challenged her. Realizing that discovery meant the war would not be delivered, she spurred her horse and rode over the man, knocking his rifle from his hand and discharging it. The shot and his cries summoned other police on the scene and she rode recklessly forward as she was the target for a hail of bullets.

She succeeded in breaking through the cordon and made the last seen of the journey on the morning of the isolated farmhouse where Michael Collins was hiding and delivering the message.

Was Known as "Mike."

Michael Collins was known as "Mike" throughout Ireland. He was an accountant by profession and at one time worked in the London postoffice and later as a bank clerk.

His exploits are legendary throughout Ireland. He took part in the eastern rebellion and was captured and released. Once, while police were raiding his abode, he hung from the window ledge of his room until they left. He used to say that he had found fighting a short cut into society. In appearance he was dark haired, broad faced, and wore a small, trim military mustache.

Five Hundred Women Join Strike Reopening in East

Olean, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Pepper boxes, brooms, and clubs were the weapons of 500 women who attacked an automobile carrying a workman of the Peppercorn railroad shops, three detectives, and a chauffeur, in River street late yesterday. There wasn't a male older than 10 years in the crowd.

The women, tossing black and red pepper, mixed with salt to make it carry well, tried to overturn the car. They lifted it in the air and at one time had it three feet off the ground.

The pepper proved a boomerang. The women began to sneeze and the policemen took advantage of this to disperse the crowd.

Motor Bus Conductor Hurt in Trolley Crash

George Thon, 27 years old, 1210 East 65th street, conductor on a Chicago motor bus was seriously injured late last night when it skidded into a northbound Broadway car at Grandville avenue and Broadway. He suffered a possible skull fracture. Passengers on the street car were shaken up, and one was injured.

COLLINS' BROTHER HERE SAYS "MIKE" EXPECTED DEATH

"It's a sorry day for Ireland," said Patrick Collins, brother of Michael Collins, who was killed last night, as he spoke to the Irish leader's death.

Patrick Collins is a sergeant on the Chicago police force, and now attached to the state's attorney's office.

"I can't say it is as much of a shock to me as it might be," he said. "We have been expecting it daily and so had Mike, for he wrote me not two weeks ago that any day we might get this news. But he wrote me that if I did get the news that he had been killed to know that he had died like a Collins and fighting for Ireland."

Where did the assassination take place? "At Bandon, County Cork," he was told.

"It was there, was it?" he said. "Well Bandon is just twelve miles from where we boys were born. We were born at Clonakilly. Many of the time Mike and I have walked to Bandon and back. Never would I believe anybody in that town would kill my brother."

"If it was a real Irishman that killed Mike I would say the Irish race is disgraced. But I know it wasn't. It was some dirty blackguard not fit to wipe his boots. When this trouble has gone from Ireland, I guess I can say without boasting that the name of Michael Collins will be high on the list of martyrs that have fought and died for the 'old sod'."

HUSBAND HELD AFTER THE DEATH OF YOUNG WIFE

Morris, Ill., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Thomas Cushing, 23, was held to the grand jury without bond this afternoon on recommendation of the coroner's jury charged with the death of his 19 year old wife whom he married four months ago. The action was taken on evidence of James McDermott, who helped carry the burning woman from the home. He asked where his blood was flowing. She said: "Tom did it and poured gasoline over me." The husband denies all accusations regardless of a severe grilling. Some parts of his stories are conflicting.

BALKS AT GIVING UP HUSBAND FOR $100 A MONTH

Artist's Wife to Sue Mrs. Wakefield for $25,000.

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 22.—If Mrs. Edith Sprackels Wakefield, divorced wife of the late John D. Sprackels Jr., capitalist, wants Rodney Kendrick, young San Francisco artist, she will have to pay Mrs. Nellie Kendrick, wife of the artist, $25,000, or whatever the court will give her in an alienation of affections suit, Frank M. Carr, Mrs. Kendrick's attorney, said here today. Mrs. Wakefield, who is suing her present husband, Frank Wakefield, San Francisco business man, for divorce, has expressed her love for the artist.

Sprackels to Investigate.

Reports from San Diego said that John D. Sprackels Sr., was coming to San Francisco in his private yacht, the Venetia, and should arrive late today or early tomorrow to investigate the trouble involving Mrs. Wakefield, particularly in connection with his relationship to the estate of his deceased son, Mrs. Wakefield is reported to have an $80,000 interest in the estate.

"Mrs. Kendrick decided today to go through with the alienation of affections suit," Carr announced. "The amount could not be less because of Mrs. Kendrick's 14 months old child."

Wants Her to Drop Suit.

"Kendrick tried to see his wife in Alameda Sunday night to get her to drop the suit."

"He is trying to protect Mrs. Wakefield's interests. My client will also fight any divorce action brought by Kendrick."

When informed of the proposed suit, Mrs. Wakefield said, "I do not see how any suit can be filed for the alienation of Kendrick's affections when Mrs. Kendrick spoke freely to every one of the fact that she wanted to divorce him."

Carr expects to file the suit in Oakland Friday.

Mrs. Wakefield had made a statement yesterday that she had offered Mrs. Kendrick $100 a month for the remainder of her life for her husband, she to marry him after divorce of both were obtained.

AMERICAN DATA ON BOOZE GUIDE SWEDISH BALLOT

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] STOCKHOLM, Aug. 22.—Sweden's fight on the prohibition question, which will be settled by a referendum next Sunday, although hotly contested, has simmered down to competition in logic. Both the wets and dries are submitting indisputable statistics to show that alcohol is a life saver or bar to civilization.

Both sides find America an excellent example to illustrate the virtue of their arguments.

Quota Yankee Authorities.

The dries quote lavishly the American Anti-Saloon league and show the glowing success of prohibition in America, and how sin, debauch, insanity, immorality, ill health, and other odious offerings found at the door of the saloon in ancient days have been gradually exterminated.

The wets equally liberally report testimony of old bootleggers, demonstrating the first of the week, we will have cars set all over the city in various sections, where people of all classes can conveniently get the fruit."

FRUIT SALE ALL OVER THE CITY, PLAN OF POOLE

Russell J. Poole, high cost of living expert, reported yesterday that the fruit sale at the municipal pier the last two days "was far beyond" his expectations. He asserted that the fruit was "sold 25 to 30 cents a package cheaper than wholesale, based on South Water street prices."

Regarding future sales he said: "I have made arrangements, starting Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, to have a full boat load of apples, pears, peaches, plums and grapes on the pier, and have in addition to this made arrangements with a motor company to deliver for the purchaser, in case he cannot personally take away all the wares."

"We are having a full car set in the Pullman shops tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for the employees, and a full car at the Western Electric plant on Thursday morning for their employees. Starting the first of the week, we will have cars set all over the city in various sections, where people of all classes can conveniently get the fruit."

After being fined $100 and costs, and ordered to collect his statue on the grounds that he was "greater than God," Albert J. Moore told his followers at the Chicago avenue police court yesterday that he would hold court as usual in the evening at 123 West Madison street.

City Prosecutor Louis P. Piquet announced that he would close all meetings at the "faith healing" temple, and indicated that he would hold the police to raid "Dr. Moore's temple" as often as the followers congregate.

His city of the faithful met last night, as usual, without molestation.

Yesterday afternoon the office of state attorney Crowe started an investigation of why Mrs. J. H. Cartwright, wife of Justice Cartwright of the Illinois Supreme court, had paid $1,000 for lessons in raising the dead, and why Mrs. William Talcott of 427 West Marguerite road, and others had been heavily fined by Moore.

Proceedings yesterday ended when Crowe for the faith healer announced to Judge John Richardson that he would appeal the case.

Alvin Frohne, 2147 North Halsted street, told how he had attended meetings of the cult in the hope of obtaining the cure with which to bury a dead wife.

Moore promised him, said Frohne, that the money would be forthcoming as soon as he became a good member.

STATE TROOPS IN MICHIGAN CHASE REDS AFTER RAID

Foster and 60 Aids Flee Forest Trap.

Michigan state troops, on telegraphic request from Washington, last night searched in Berrien county, Mich., looking for William Z. Foster, master of the Reds in America, and sixty of his chief lieutenants.

Early this morning Chicago secret service men were ordered to watch for Foster here. It is believed he may have gotten through to the city.

The radicals escaped yesterday when federal detectives and deputy sheriffs raided an international convention of the Communists of America in the heart of the woods near Bridgman, Mich.

Fifteen of the crowd were caught and are lodged in Berrien county jail. William J. Burns, chief of the United States department of justice, is said to have linked the Red convention leaders with the Gary wreck and shop strike violence all over the nation.

Lenin Envoys Escape.

While Michigan troops are searching Berrien county the federal operatives, aided by local officials, are scouting the forests and dunes between Benton Harbor and Chicago in the hope of landing some of the missing sixty-one.

Among those who escaped the United States cordon are Boris Reinstein and Arnold Lokowsky, emissaries sent to Foster by Nicolai Lenin, Red ruler of Soviet Russia.

For months federal detectives under the leadership of Chief Burns have been trailing Foster, president of the Trades Union Educational society.

Three nights ago, when State's Attorney Crowe's men raided Foster's office here to try to link him with the Gary wreck in which a train was deliberately derailed and two trainmen died, the federal department of justice announced that the raid was needless because they had been on Foster's trail for a long time and knew every move he'd made.

Ring of U. S. Men Waits.

So a ring of operatives, aided by Berrien county police, was on hand early Sunday morning, lying in wait in the bushes around the convention house, hidden deep in the forest near Bridgman. All day long and all that night they waited, watching the Reds known by name and sight to them as ringleaders in communism, as they arrived, one by one or in pairs, for their meeting in one of the most out of the way spots in this region.

Yesterday morning the convention started, and the detectives closed in on the clearing in the woods.

But some one had "tipped off" Foster and his cohorts and as the federal men approached there was a rush for the woods. Foster, prize of the party, escaped, as did most of the others.

From Washington came immediate demand on Col. Roy C. Vandercok, commissioner of safety at Lansing, for state troops to search all portions of Berrien county and they went into the woods late last night.

Truckloads of Red literature and correspondence were seized and skilled investigators immediately began reading them to see if they could find information on the alleged revolutionary program of Foster's followers.

SOVIET PLANS TO PAWN RUSSIAN ROYAL JEWELS

(Copyright, 1932, by The New York Times.)

MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—The soviet government has prepared an album of photographs of the jewels of the Russian royal family, of which copies in English, French, and German are shortly to be sent abroad. The estimated value of the crown jewels, which have remained intact despite all stories to the contrary, is $400,000,000 purely as jewels. Numerous pieces are absolutely unique in the whole world. Many others have a history that goes back a thousand years.

The soviet government had determined to keep the jewels as national property, as they kept art treasures, but the Communist leaders decided they are "valuable ornaments," and as the Communist leaders have a vein of common sense they don't see why "adornments" shouldn't be utilized.

I understand it is their intention to offer the jewels as collateral for a loan, perhaps even to sell some outright, but this will be decided later.

At present the rate for common labor in the steel mills is running at 30 cents an hour, a 30 per cent boost will make it 39 cents an hour. Notices were posted at the steel corporation's plants at Gary and South Chicago late in the afternoon.

Trade experts estimate that on Sept. 1 between 25,000 and 30,000 laborers in the South Chicago-Gary region will get the 6 cents an hour raise. The boost reflects the speed at which industry is reviving and the increasing demand for labor.

The wage increase is the first since Feb. 1, 1930, when common labor was raised 10 per cent and was given 47 cents an hour. Wages were cut 20 per cent May 18 and on June 18 overtime was abolished, and on Aug. 19, 1931, wages were again cut to 30 cents an hour. Months ago it was noted in this Tribune that wages for common laborers in the steel industry had sunk to the point where jobs went begging, notwithstanding more than 1,000,000 men in other lines were idle, due to strikes or suspensions, and that demand for workers would later undoubtedly shove the wage scale up again.

Increase to Be Cited.

Before the rail board Monday E. F. Grable, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Men, who did not join in the rail strike, will bring out the recent upward trend in wages. The old rate for section hands and common labor in the shops was 28 to 40 cents an hour. The labor board cut it down to 23 to 35 cents an hour, effective July 1.

The outlook yesterday was that the railroads will not enter much opposition to the arguments of the men, and the prevailing belief appeared to be that the board will restore the 5 cents which it chopped off the hourly wage of this group.

U. S. STEEL GIVES COMMON LABOR FIFTH MORE PAY

Increase Is Effective on Sept. 1.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Maintenance of way men—$75,000 strong—whose wage cuts came before the United States railroad labor board for rehearing Monday, now a token in the sky yesterday.

A wage increase of 20 per cent for about 145,000 common laborers in the steel mills was announced by the United States Steel corporation at New York.

It is to take effect Sept. 1, and other wage rates are to be "equitably adjusted." Independent steel men are expected to follow suit. Some of them announced themselves on this yesterday.

Will Get 36 Cents.

At present the rate for common labor in the steel mills is running at 30 cents an hour, a 30 per cent boost will make it 39 cents an hour. Notices were posted at the steel corporation's plants at Gary and South Chicago late in the afternoon.

JOY REIGNS IN MINING TOWNS AT PEACE NEWS

Strip for Work in State's Coal Pits.

for a temporary strike until April 1 next, the men returning to work at the old wage and working conditions.

The operators do not expect the mines of the state to reach the normal daily production of 340,000 tons until the tenth day. The initial output, they say, will be about 40 per cent of normal and this will be increased from day to day until the maximum is attained. At the end of a three week period, they predict, the output will fall back to about 250,000 tons daily, due to the inability of the railroads to move the fuel under the handicap of the shopmen's strike.

Wipe Out Shortage.

Dr. F. C. Hennold, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, predicted that the fuel shortage in Illinois will have been wiped out entirely within two months following the ending of the railroad strike.

In signing the agreement in Illinois the Illinois Coal Operators' association and the operators' organization in the Belleville district acted as units. Some fifteen members of the Central Illinois Coal Operators' association—of the Springfield district—and F. E. Feasbody, president of the Old Ben Coal company and a member of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, insisted on signing individual agreements. The reason given for this action was that a large number of operators are still under indictment for violation of the interstate commerce act in "signing interstate agreements to restrict trade."

Farrington's Big Chance.

Developments during the last day of conference between the miners and operators seemed to indicate that a committee of six, consisting of the three presidents of the operators' associations and the three officers of the union, went into conference early in the morning. Shortly after this Mr. Feasbody and one of the Central Illinois operators were said to have offered to sign a nineteen months' agreement with Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners.

If Farrington could have accomplished this, a much better agreement than proposed at the Cleveland conference, he would have been able to materially strengthen his position against John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America. He would also have had good on his back at Cleveland that he would not sign a separate agreement in Illinois unless it carried a lot more for the miners than the Cleveland pact.

Hold General Session.

However, the miners' executive committee objected to deviating at all from the Cleveland agreement and the seven months' truce won. After the miners and operators had held separate meetings the committee of six went into session for a brief period in the afternoon and then a joint meeting of the full committee was held. The "big six" reported they had been unable to reach an agreement, but recommended that an agreement be signed on the basis of the Cleveland conference.

It was moved that the old wage agreement which expired on April 1 be renewed until the same date next year. President Farrington moved that section 18 of the old agreement be stricken out. This section reads:

"The joint executive boards are authorized and instructed to arrange for negotiations for the formation of a new contract to begin at a date not later than the expiration of this contract."

It was pointed out that this provision conflicted with the Cleveland plan and the operators agreed to its removal. The striking out of this clause, however, is the only thing in the new agreement which suggests approval of the Cleveland agreement. There is nothing whatever in the new contract signed which pledges the attendance of the Illinois operators at the Cleveland conference on Oct. 2.

The contract simply reads:

"It is hereby agreed by and between the officers of District No. 10, United Mine Workers of America and (name of operator or association) that the working agreement which terminated March 31, 1922, is hereby renewed and extended to March 31, 1923, in all of its provisions as to wages and working conditions, excepting the thirty-second clause to be stricken therefrom in accordance with the policy adopted by the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America."

Consumer Chief Loser in Coal Settlement, Operators Assert

F. C. Hennold, secretary treasurer of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, last night issued a statement saying the settlement of the coal strike in the state virtually was a capitulation of the public to the miners, rather than a defeat for the companies. His statement reads:

"Illinois coal operators have been compelled to surrender. Prolonged and earnest negotiation has failed to secure any concessions whatever from the Illinois miners.

"The operators continue as fixed as ever in their belief that arbitration of the kind which they have heretofore insisted upon must ultimately be established and will best serve the interests of all parties concerned, the miner, the operator, and the public. Further effort, however, at this time, seeking to compel the adoption of the principle of arbitration seems to the Illinois coal operators not only useless but futile. The clamorous demand for coal has developed extreme pressure from all sides which the operators cannot longer refuse to acknowledge.

Forced to Yield.

"They are forced by necessity to yield in behalf of the public. It is acknowledgment of capitulation to a force superior to both the operators, the public, and the operators, as President Harding phrases it, 'the country is at the mercy of the United Mine Workers.'

"This strike in every section of the country has not been against the coal operator employer, but has been directed at the public itself. In this connection also, attention is again called to the fact that regardless of repeated requests and demands, Illinois operators for the first time met the representatives of their workmen in conference to attempt the negotiation of a wage scale only last Saturday, 141 days after the mines were closed through the refusal of the miners to continue at work.

Enormous Loss from Strike.

"Illinois mines will scarcely be ready for work, even to produce a limited tonnage, before next Monday, Aug. 23. This will make 150 days of mine idleness since April 1. Deducting twenty-one Sundays, the number of actual work days lost from April 1 would be 129.

"Taking the experience of past years, Illinois mines have worked during this period about three days a week, one-half time, or sixty-the United Mine Workers of America, Aug. 18, 1922."

What They Said.

"We are glad it is settled," is all that President Farrington would say. "We've had to yield our arbitration demands," said Rice Miller, president of the Illinois Coal Operators' association. "There was too much pressure. We'll get down to digging coal right away."

W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Belleville operators, said the policy to be pursued with reference to the Cleveland conference would be determined by the operators later.

"As long as we have settled on the basis of the Cleveland agreement, I presume we will attend that conference," he said.

Immediately following the meeting both operators and miners rushed to telegraph offices to flash the word to the mines.

Small Ignored Dealers.

In connection with Gov. Small's appointment of the rationing committee it is reported that strong political pressure had been brought upon the governor not to name the committee until the Illinois miners were back at work.

As was predicted, the governor did not name the Cook county committee any of those whose names were suggested by the local coal dealers and commercial organizations, selecting instead a committee whose membership is more or less closely identified with the coal industry.

Those named on the Cook county committee are Col. Robert H. Morse of Fairbanks, Morse & Co.; D. E. Kelly, general manager of Standard Oil and treasurer of the Paines of Progress; Attorney Roy D. Keesh, James W. Brown, assistant corporation counsel, and Ald. Oscar Olsen.

FOUR-FIFTHS OF U. S. COAL MINES NOW ON THE JOB

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

With the settlement of the coal strike in Illinois, pits which produce more than 15 per cent of the bituminous output of America are ready for the reopening whistles. The mines have been kept in such condition that in forty-eight hours the majority of them will be in shape to dig and ship coal, and the fuel question now becomes one of cars and transportation.

Officials of the United Mine Workers estimate that now that Illinois and Indiana have come in, the strike settlement now covers about four-fifths of the unopened soft coal production of the United States. Parts of the Pittsburgh area are still sticking out, and in the west and southwest the peace is reported not yet completed. But, as matters stand, the unions estimate that out of a total soft coal production of about 550,000,000 tons a year, not more than 75,000,000 tons are still out in the blizzard.

Forced to Sign Up.

At Cleveland when the peace agreement was drafted and ratified by the United Mine Workers' officials and operators mining only about 5,000,000 tons a year, the theory of the union was that once some mines reopened and began to ship, the operators from Illinois, Indiana and elsewhere who declined to enter the peace party would soon succumb, and that within a short time they would sign on the dotted line. John L. Lewis, head of the miners, estimated that by the end of the present week contracts would be signed up covering at least 425,000 of the 500,000 bituminous strikers and putting them back to work at the old wage scales and under the old working conditions.

Nonunion Wages Up.

"As a result of the universal recognition of the dominance of the United Mine Workers and of the economic necessity, if labor is to be held at their mines, certain of the producing fields in West Virginia have already arranged for substantial advances in pay to miners that bring their wage scales to somewhat nearer the rates paid in Illinois."

"One such scale, to become effective Aug. 16, in the New River district, carries the day wage rate up to a point ranging to an average of between $6 and $7 per day. This is a reflex influence of the victory of the organized miners and means the universal increase in the price of coal in nonunion as well as unionized districts."

estimates has more than worked out. They hold it is a matter of only a short time before the peace is 100 per cent.

"Check-Off" Remains.

All the old working conditions are continued until April 1. The "check-off," which operators wanted abolished or restricted, remains. The six hour day, five day week plank was not pressed—it was put in at the convention that formulated the miners' demands, but the union officials from the outset said it could not be pushed as it was a dead duck.

To the consuming public the loss has been tremendous. No "expert" as yet has been bold enough to make an estimate, but some guess it has piled an average of a dollar a ton on one year's consumption, or over half a billion dollars, while others figure the public gets it in the neck to the tune of one or two billion dollars—all sheer guesses.

THE IRON PUDDLER

FROM A TWO-COLUMN REVIEW BY

William E. Brigham in Boston Transcript

ONE of the most fascinating examples of autobiographical writing has been produced during his term of office by a member of the President's cabinet. The Iron Puddler is one of the greatest of literary surprises. It proves of such sweeping interest that one reads it at a sitting.

Mr. Davis's story is of a Welsh child who, coming to this country at the age of six years, became a master puddler at sixteen, thirty years later was at the head of an order, and at forty-eight is the advisor of a President.

The Iron Puddler bristles with illustrations of the possibilities of American life. Every page intrigues—every line has a "punch."

National War on Rent Hogs Is Planned Here

Plans for a national campaign against profiteering landlords, which include passage of state and federal legislation, were discussed yesterday by officials of the Society of American Commonwealth in conference with the Chicago Tenants' Protective League.

The society plans an immediate campaign to establish tenants' leagues similar to the Chicago association in every important city in the country, and then making a combined national fight against the rent hog.

PEACE MEETING OF ANTHRACITE MINERS IS OFF

Hard Coal Strike May Last All Winter.

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Negotiations which had been expected to result in the settlement of the anthracite strike were broken off tonight and peace in the hard coal regions apparently was off for all winter. The 155,000 miners who work on April 1.

The joint conference of operators and miners, which had been striving since last Thursday to reach an agreement on a new wage scale, adjourned this evening to meet at the call of the secretary upon request of either side.

Responsibility for the continuation of the strike was laid to each other in statements by both sides. Also, representatives of the miners and operators were pessimistic as to the resumption of mining in the hard coal fields before or during the winter unless some unusual or unforeseen suggestion that would placate the contending parties would result in a recalling of the conference.

Differ on Contract's Duration.
As indicated by official statements issued after the conference adjourned, the duration of a contract and the submission to arbitration of any differences were the stumbling blocks that could not be overcome by the negotiators. Representatives of the mine workers insisted upon a contract at the old wage rate, to extend to April 1, 1923, while the operators would not agree to a continuation of the old scale longer than next April.

Operators Want Permanent Peace.
Samuel D. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company and spokesman for the operators, also issued a formal statement declaring that the operators in their proposals to the miners' representatives had in mind not merely the bringing about of a resumption of production, but also the establishment of a basis looking toward permanent peace.

GIRL FLEES FROM CHICAGO SCHOOL;
POLICE SEARCH ON

Police are searching for Miss Hazel Kenley, 11 years old, 1133 Noyes avenue, who escaped from the Chicago School for Girls Monday night. Miss Kenley preferred charges several months ago against two New York women.

Miss Kenley left the institution in company with Martha Zanasack, 17 years old. Several hours later the two appeared in the Melrose Park police station and asked for a place to spend the night. Yesterday morning an elderly woman, who said she was Miss Kenley's aunt, appeared and took the girl away.

Miss Kenley first gained notoriety in May when her father had Max L. Illinois of New York arrested on charges of contributing to the delinquency.

PROTECT PUBLIC, HARDING'S POLICY FOR COAL BOARD

Favors Nonpartisan Commission.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—President Harding let it be known today that he opposes a federal coal commission which will have in its membership representatives of the miners and the mine operators.

In making known his desires in this respect Mr. Harding gave assurance that he believed the public would be better served by a nonpartisan commission.

Congress Approves Fills.
Committees of both houses of congress today approved bills to carry out the President's recommendation for a coal commission. Senator Borah, Republican (Idaho), chairman of the committee on education and labor, said he would report his bill to the senate tomorrow. Representative Mondell (Wyo.), Republican leader of the house, announced that the Winslow bill will be taken up in the house tomorrow under a special rule and passed.

The two bills are similar in substance. The Borah bill, as amended, creates a commission of five members appointed by the President. The President does not need to give the industry any representation on the commission, although he is not prohibited from doing so. It is specified that no members of the senate or house shall be eligible for appointment. The commission will exist for one year, members being paid at the rate of $7,500 per year.

Commission of Nine.
The Winslow bill creates a commission of nine members appointed by the President, instead of five, as in the Borah bill. No representative of industry may be appointed. The commission would be in existence for one year, the members being paid salaries of $10,000 each.

It is expected that the house will pass the bill tomorrow by a large majority. It is likely that the senate may defer action until the house bill comes over. The Borah bill then will be substituted for the house measure, leaving the final form of the measure to be determined in conference.

R. R. ACCIDENTS FAIL TO SHOW BAD EQUIPMENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, through its railroad bureau, today placed before its members statistics obtainable relative to railroad equipment and to safety of its operation tending to show that conditions are not as serious as the strike leaders paint them.

"The figures for accidents on railroads to employees and passengers," said the statement, "show that there were 93 employees and passengers killed or seriously injured this year in July, the first month of the shopmen's strike, as against 213 in the previous month, and 128 in July of last year. The average number of accidents for this class for the six months ended June 30, 1922, was 140."

"Accidents reported by telegraph to the interstate commerce commission for June, July, and August, 1922, were:

Month	Employees	Passengers
June	104	113
July	111	124
August	111	119

"The available statistics do not permit segregation of figures into casualties in accidents resulting from defective equipment and casualties in accidents due to other causes."

RAILWAY FAILS; MOTOR TRUCKS TO CARRY MAIL

Due to Strike Prospect on Southern Lines.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—R. N. Bird, superintendent of mails in the southern district, announced here tonight that, acting on advice that the situation on the Southern railroad was becoming "acute," due to strike conditions, and that train services might be discontinued on approximately 614 miles of the railroad, he had taken steps to meet the emergency by handling local mails with motor truck service.

The lines affected, according to Supt. Bird, are from Lexington to Louisville and Danville and Lawrenceburg, Ky.; Louisville and St. Louis, West Baden, Ind.; Evansville, Ind.; Lincoln City to Cannelton, and Lincoln City to Rockport, in Indiana and Illinois.

Soldiers May Man Trucks.
If the railroad does not reach an agreement with the Brotherhoods by Wednesday midnight, when they are scheduled to refuse to operate trains, Mr. Bird said, the government will be prepared to take over the entire mail service.

If the necessity becomes great enough trucks will be obtained at army camps and manned by soldiers.

Rail Service Partially Resumed.
Louisville, Ky., Aug. 22.—Through passenger service on the western district, Southern railway, from Louisville to St. Louis, and limited freight service will be resumed tomorrow morning, B. C. Falls of St. Louis, general superintendent of the district, announced tonight.

Engineers May Quit.
Evansville, Ind., Aug. 22.—Chairmen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the Louisville-St. Louis division of the Southern railway added to the complications of the tieup on the division today by serving notice on officials at Princeton, Ind., that engineers would suspend work at midnight Wednesday unless locomotives were put in better condition for road service.

Four Men Are Hurt as Dirt

SLAIN STRIKER IS BLAMED FOR JOLIET KILLING

'Put Onus on the Dead,' Jurymen's Views.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—All the blame for the strike riot and shooting in Joliet two weeks ago, in which Sheriff James Newkirk was wounded by bullets in his head and leg, and Philip Reitz, special agent for the E. & J. Joliet and Eastern railway, was shot and killed, was placed today upon the dead striker, Frank Lavino, who fell in the same battle.

A coroner's jury, after listening to all the evidence obtainable, which was not great, decided after a few minutes' deliberation that Reitz was killed by Lavino. Testimony of one witness, Harry Holsiel, was to the effect that Lavino precipitated the trouble by first shooting Sheriff Newkirk.

Striking shopmen who were in the riot refused to give details of the shooting on the ground that their answers might incriminate themselves. Lavino's death was attributed to a gunshot wound fired by an unknown person. There have been various reports that the sheriff shot him and that Reitz shot the shooting, but there was no direct testimony on this point. Investigations for the state's attorney, who was present at the inquest, have been working for days to get witnesses, but their efforts met with little success. The strikers thought it safer to say nothing and let the blame rest with the dead.

There have been no developments in the deadlock between the striking Big Four brotherhood men and the state authorities over the presence of troops in the strike zone.

MYSTERY GIRL RESCUED FROM POOL IN PARK

A mystery girl 15 years old who refuses to tell her past was saved from death in Douglas park swimming pool last night by life guards. In the county hospital she was silent when police questioned her whether her life was imperiled by accident or design.

The girl, known as Mary Brown, Isabella Vandercott, and Helen Scott by her few intimates, was found by Miss Lillian Scudder, 2316 West 23d street, sitting in front of a house one night, weeping bitterly. She explained she was penniless. Miss Scudder took her to live with her.

Last night the two girls went swimming. Mary plunged into the pool quickly and soon screamed for help. Guard Rudy Halla went to her aid.

BONUS TO START THROUGH SENATE BARRAGE TODAY

Friends and Foes Set for Long Battle.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Following all parliamentary and legislative blockades, the bonus bill is ready to make a new start on its tedious march through the statute books. The zero hour is tomorrow and bonus advocates expect to conduct an intensive drive, confident they will be able to force a vote on the measure within a short time.

House members will be offered amendments as the finance committee's recommendations will be followed almost to the letter. Prospects are that the measure will then be tied up in conference for a while.

Harding Attitude in Doubt.
Whether President Harding will veto the bill remains in doubt. Both sides are claiming his support. If he does veto the measure, an extremely close fight will ensue on the question of passing it over his disapproval.

Senator McCumber (R., D.), chairman of the senate finance committee, will open the debate in behalf of the bonus.

Opponents of the bill are active and expect to open a thorough debate. Outside the senate the opposition continues to hammer the measure, the United States Chamber of Commerce being particularly active.

Olds British Bonus.
The United States has already given a discharge bonus of $770,000,000 to veterans of the world war, which is only $4,000,000 less than the total bonus payments of Great Britain, according to a letter addressed today to business men and business organizations throughout the country by Julius H. Barnes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"In the report submitted by Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee," says Mr. Barnes' letter, "attention is directed to payments made by the war by foreign countries to their veterans." The totals are briefly summarized as follows:

Great Britain.....$275,910,446
Canada.....147,690,000
Australia.....135,000,000
New Zealand.....15,250,000
France.....372,571,150
Belgium.....10,992,500

"The United States government has already given a discharge bonus which totals $770,000,000 for a maximum service of one year seven months and five days. England gave but $4,000,000 more for a maximum service of four years."

Underwritten by Treaty.
"The senate finance committee also failed to mention that in connection with foreign bonus payments, the allies agreed to cover many expenses of the war directly connected with pensions and compensation."

"The own government did not share in the reparations and compensations, but itself supplied the funds for all allowances and compensations. It became more and more obvious therefore that this government in its treatment of enlisted men has exceeded in generosity any other government engaged in the war."

DIES IN GERMANY

WILLIAM BOLDENWECK.

William Boldenweck, former United States sub-treasurer in Chicago, died in Hamburg, Germany, of heart disease yesterday, according to cable dispatches. He was to have sailed from Hamburg yesterday on his way back to Chicago.

Mr. Boldenweck was head of the sub-treasury in 1908 when the embezzlement of $173,000 in $1,000 bills led to a series of sensational investigations. Congress formally relieved him from responsibility for the loss. George W. Fitzgerald, an employee in the treasury, was accused of having taken the bills. He was acquitted.

Mr. Boldenweck was born in Goettingen, Germany, in 1852. He was brought to Chicago two years later by his parents. He became a tinner and worked as a clerk in a department store, finally engaging in the cut stone business with his brother. In 1875 he took control of this business and organized the firm of Boldenweck & Henne. In 1887 he was elected the first mayor of Lake View and remained in that office until the village was annexed. He was appointed to the Chicago school board in 1891 by Mayor Washburne. He also served as member and president of the sanitary district board.

PIER PAGEANT MAKES PROFIT OF NEAR $50,000

Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the Pageant of Progress, which closed Saturday, received the first official estimate of the finances of the exposition yesterday. These figures show that a profit of approximately $50,000 was made, as compared to more than $300,000 last year. The street car and railroad strikes are blamed for the difference.

The figures show that $237,000 was taken in at the gate and $276,000 for the sale of space on the pier, and of this amount about $18,000 already has been paid out, leaving $39,000 in the bank. Bills still payable amount to $66,454 and bills receivable $32,500, leaving a deficit of approximately $24,000 to come out of the money in the bank.

HUNT ANGRY HUSBAND'S DYNAMITE

The police in Englewood were looking yesterday for a cellar full of dynamite which John Vretholm, 7211 South Wood street, threatened to explode there, according to his wife.

STALL A BIT, BUT SEND TARIFF BILL TO CONFERENCE

House Members Engage in Crossfire.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—House conferees on the tariff bill were appointed today after the house, by a vote of 198 to 89, had sent the measure to conference under a special rule. Republicans voted for the special rule, while the Democrats took the position that the bill should be referred to the ways and means committee.

The house conferees are Representative Fordney (Mich.), Green (Iowa), and Longworth (Ohio), Republicans, and Garner (Texas) and Collier (Miss.), Democrats.

An hour's debate preceded the action of the house, Republican and Democratic speakers taking the opportunity to make political capital of the occasion. The Republicans declared that the bill would be placed on the statute books without delay, while the Democrats charged that a conference report would not be presented until after the election.

"Grievous at Senate Changes."
Representative Fordney told the house he would insist upon acceptance of American valuation and on the house rates of duty, which he said were lower than those in the senate bill.

"I shall insist upon the house rates. I believe the bill as it left the house is a better bill than as it came back from the senate."

Representative Garner told the house that, regardless of his present claims, Mr. Fordney will accept foreign valuation and the senate rates of duty.

"I predict now that this bill will be considered in conference longer than any other bill ever was in conference in the history of congress," said Mr. Garner.

"I want to tell you that you will accept the senate bill or you won't have any tariff bill this session. The senate will never surrender its position on valuation."

"I think it is the purpose to take a recess until after the election and tell the people that you will come back and put the tariff bill on the statute books. Each one of you will make the tariff bill in his own way in his own district."

"Born an Orphan."
Representative Pott (N. C.) also declared that the bill would not be on statute books before the election. "This bill is enthusiastically supported by no one," he said. "There isn't a man who in his heart is enthusiastic for its passage. If the chairman of the ways and means committee were to express his real opinion about this bill his remarks would have to be expunged from the record."

"It will not be passed before the election in my judgment because you don't want to risk having the voters know how much the cost of the necessities of life will be increased."

Representative Garrett (Tenn.), Democratic leader, said "the Fordney-McCumber bill is an orphan before it is born," because of the fact that Mr. Fordney has announced his voluntary retirement from congress and Senator McCumber was defeated in the primaries.

DRY AGENTS SIFT WEIRD TALE OF RESCUE OF PLANE

New York, Aug. 22.—The story told by three men landed at Long Beach early this morning by a suspected rum running schooner, after having been rescued from the crippled seaplane Ambassador II, tonight attracted the attention of prohibition headquarters. State Director Parsons announced that all circumstances surrounding the plane's adventures would be thoroughly investigated. Maj. Bernard L. Smith, operating head of the Aeromarine railways, which owns the Ambassador II and other commercial planes, promised every possible aid.

The fate of the plane, abandoned, it was said, when the unnamed schooner, as mysterious as the Flying Dutchman, had picked up the stranded trio, has not been established. The trio, who said the schooner had slipped away after selling them a dory for $25 and letting them row ashore, declared the small boat had been swamped on touching the beach in the high sea, and also had been abandoned.

From the fact that the schooner was unmarked and the reluctance of the skipper, Maj. Smith inferred that it was a liquor smuggler, and surmised that it might come from Havana.

The actors in the drama, Capt. W. T. Miller, pilot; Harold Thompson, mechanic, and V. S. Robinson of Pittsburgh, passenger, dropped out of sight after their rescue.

IT IS AN EMERGENCY.

The President told citizen soldiers at Camp Meade training camp Monday that he wished the present total of 25,000 would increase until more than 100,000 were taking the training annually.

The President told his wish to the wrong body. He should have told it to congress. If congress shared that wish it would not have been so haphazardly in its appropriations for citizen training. If congress had made provision for more than 100,000 this year there would have been more than 100,000 in training now—there should be.

We respectfully beg the President to consider this: There are thousands of young men throughout the country who wish to take training for the defense of their country, and are prevented from doing so only by the false economy which congress saw fit to follow in appropriating for citizen training. For example, when permission came from Washington to add $300 to our contingent at Camp Custer, the Military Training Camps association said $300 could have been obtained if there had been permission to send that number.

We assert, Mr. President, that this is discreditable to the government. We ask you, now that you have called public attention to the value and need for citizen training, to use your influence to win from congress action more consistent with the patriotic sentiment of American youth and with the need of the nation for a citizenry prepared efficiently to defend its honor, its peace, and its legitimate interests.

Our young men are ready. It is congress that has not been ready, taking a penny wise pound foolish viewpoint rather than responding to the spirit and need of the nation.

And we would ask your attention to another phase of this matter which congress has refused to understand. You have expressed the wish for the training annually of 100,000 young Americans. But how can they be trained if congress cuts the training force, the professional officers of the regular army, so drastically that there are not enough to spare for this task?

Meanwhile Representative Curry of California announces that he will introduce a bill to correct the unfortunate legislation which cut the officer personnel of the regular army to 12,000. Mr. Curry has been studying the situation, and he comes to the same conclusion that every one else does when he examines conditions without erroneous preconceptions. He declares that the personnel cut is dangerous to the country, and it most certainly is. He realizes that its effects cannot be corrected for years, as every one else who has studied the situation intelligently. Therefore he realizes that in spite of the fact that congress is unwilling to take up new legislation, he proposes to appeal to it to do so on the ground that an emergency exists.

He is 100 per cent right. An emergency does exist and congress should deal with it. Under false conceptions of economy and the influence of national defense is threatened. Congress has been grossly misled. It should set itself right before it is too late, and it will be too late if its disastrous action on officer personnel is not reversed at once.

When congress attempted to say how many troops might be stationed at the Canal Zone, Hawaii and elsewhere, the President stepped in. He said that he was commander in chief of the American army and the disposition of war department orders and not by congressional appropriations.

This interference was able to take another shot at it in the appropriations bill by limiting the number of officers to 12,000. A total of 17,000 was asked, but what congress allowed compels the army to pluck 5,000 officers now in service and retire them regardless of their fitness to remain in service.

It is a professional tragedy for the officers, but it is a military hurt to the country. Gen. Pershing pleaded with congress to have consideration for the national defense act, which is the first comprehensive plan the country ever had. It requires that the regular army have officers for the training of the national guard and the reserves.

It is not enough that there should be officers for the regular army. There must be officers for the training of men in civil life. They are the men who must augment the small regular army in time of need. Congress made the defense act a paper plan by depriving it of the officers needed for the training of civilians upon whom the military policy of the United States depends.

The complement of a small regular army must be a trained civilian reserve. Then, with a proper maintenance of the technical branches of war, which cannot be exterminated, the American army might be expanded from civil life to meet emergencies. Its potentialities might prevent emergencies. Congress, the inveterate enemy of American defense, takes away the effectiveness of the training system.

American army officers are useful American citizens.

IF WE NATIONALIZE THE ROADS.

Suppose the railroad strike continues. Suppose it spreads. Suppose the brotherhoods go out. Suppose train movement stops. All steam rail transportation stops. Motor transport is extemporized. It does considerable. Milk is moved. Vegetables are brought in. Actual starvation is avoided, but there is discomfort, want, or insufficiency.

As time goes on the motor transport may get better or may get worse. Probably it will show a growing insufficiency. If it did not it would prove that railroads were not needed. The pinch will be greater. The government will take the roads. It will be compelled to do so.

It will deal with whom? Not with the railroad executives. Their places can be taken by government appointees. It will deal with the men. The government can do the executive work, but it cannot do the engine work. The men go back under government rule. They probably go back under terms satisfactory to them. The return is to the status quo ante.

It has been proved then in certain emergencies that private operation, better, we think, than government operation, will not work. To avoid such emergencies, such breakdowns which destroy society, we take government operation with all of the elements which are its fault.

What happens to the men whose controversy compelled this? The railroad executives are out of work or, if they have work, they will take the government scale of pay, which will cause them to sell two or three cars, rent the house and go into a flat where a maid of all work will fill the bill. They should look at a few important government salaries and consider whether selling shoe laces is not more profitable.

What about the men? They think they wait nationalization. At least some of them do. They had dealings with Mr. McAdoo when he was a two minute egg, running for president and very sort. He was easy. Let them ask their mail carrier or any government employee they may know what he thinks of Uncle Sam as a paymaster. He will say that Mr. Sam is a piece of flint. He is hard. He has two nickels in his pocket when he faces his workers, and he keeps one of them.

There will be no strikes for better conditions if the U. S. A. takes the roads. The railroad executives will be riding in Fords, and glad to get there. The men will be fired if they need representatives, as the postal clerks did, to Washington to say that they think they are entitled to better treatment.

If they want rough stuff let them face a bureaucrat. Strike, and out comes the army. Politics pays no attention to any such groups as the railroad men constitute. They are a negligible part of the general mass. Fork pays, but politics never counts wages for pork. Observe city police and firemen. When they try to get a wage increase they are laughed at. Experts can get the dough, but public employees cannot.

The public may say that an assured transport service on a lower level of efficiency is better than a better service broken down by private wars at times, but our guess is that both executives and workers will look back at a bad day if they force the government to run the railroads. That is a wise word in stubborn ears.

SHALL WE LET MEXICO
CLEAN UP HERRIN?

The Mexican government rises to protest the alleged killing of two Mexican citizens and the beating of others in connection with the massacre of a score of men at Herrin, Ill. The point may be taken as an embarrassing reply to American protests made during the last eleven years against the murders of scores, if not hundreds, of United States citizens in Mexico. There is some difference in that the Mexicans alleged to have been murdered in Herrin were not singled out for slaughter because they were Mexicans, as Americans have been murdered more or less incidentally in a mob attack upon a group composed largely of American citizens.

But even so, the main issue remains. We might reply to the protest in two ways. One is that Williamson county, Ill., where the murders took place, is not a part of the United States. It has indicated its secession from the law and order of the United States by its condoning of wholesale murder. In such case Mexico might even send its troops into Williamson county to punish the murderers and exact reparations and indemnities. Even Mexico could do that job better than the authorities of Williamson county, of the state of Illinois, or of the United States have done to date.

A second reply might be that the United States government will investigate the facts, and if Mexican citizens are found to have been murdered by Americans on American soil, will punish the murderers and exact damages. Of the two that appears to be the better plan. The President in his message to congress to give him power to deal with such cases as Herrin. Congress should not fail to grant his request.

Williamson county apparently glories in its disgrace. While the state of Illinois does not do likewise, its authorities have either been tardy and ineffective or, as in the case of the attorney general, have been purposely hampered in their efforts by local and state politics. If it must be made an international incident in order to bring the federal government into it to correct the weakness or evil of local authorities, then we welcome the Mexican protest. Such a protest may impress us as coming with bad grace from a country which has condoned the murder of hundreds of Americans, and harbored their slayers, but if it has the effect of stirring this country to more effective handling of the Herrin atrocity and similar outbreaks, it is welcome.

HAY FEVER TREATMENT.

A man is subject to hay fever. He should have his susceptibility to pollen studied. This is simpler than it seems, since about 90 per cent of the cases belong to types. For instance, in the eastern and southern states 30 per cent of the August cases are due to the ragweed group. In other sections and in other seasons the cause is different, but in each instance there is an enormously predominating group.

The best test is that by the injection into the skin of a standard solution obtainable from any of the larger biological product houses.

Or a solution can be rubbed into an abrasion of the skin, similar in procedure to vaccination, or dropped in the eye or applied to the membranes of the nose. This should be done several months before the season of the attack.

The next step is vaccination against the trouble. This is done by hypodermic injections of increasing doses of the pollen extract. This should be begun about sixty days before the attack is expected.

The use of calcium chloride, or the more palatable calcium lactate, does good oftentimes. Four ounces of calcium chloride crystals are dissolved in a pint of water. One teaspoonful of this solution, well diluted, is taken three times a day.

After the attack comes on a 5 per cent solution of argyrol may be used in the eyes or in the nose, or borate of soda, 15 grains, boracic acid, 15 grains; salt, 3 grains, and distilled water, 1 ounce, may be used in the eyes or the nose.

Or solution of vasoline 1-100, 1 dram; normal salt solution, 2 ounces. Cocaine is too dangerous and should not be used.

During the attack of hay fever Dr. Scheppegrell, who has had more experience than any one else, injects a vaccine which can be had from the manufacturing houses. It is a different liquid from the pollen vaccine and is prior to the attack for preventive purposes.

This curative vaccine is injected about three times a week until the attack lets up.

Just as important from the standpoint of the sufferer is that he controls the weeds in the vicinity of his habitation and learns to avoid whatever causes his trouble or makes it worse.

While pollen is carried many miles, most of it falls near where it is produced. Certain fields and roads may contribute unduly and should therefore be avoided. A rain clears the air and stops the trouble for the time being. Sprinkling, therefore, helps.

A high wind makes the trouble worse. Therefore on very windy days it may pay such a subject to stay indoors because of the trouble for the time being. Sprinkling, therefore, helps.

WHO SWEETS THE STEPS?

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My office is located in a basement, the doorway being on the side of the building, with six steps and a wide arway leading up to the street. This is a high class office building and I was told that I was like to know who is supposed to clean these steps and arway, as they have not been cleaned since I moved in, and I cannot believe I can be expected to do any cleaning outside my office door.

The facts that you state would not be sufficient to compel the landlord to furnish the "sweeper."

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Could the commissioner of fair prices compel a "waffle shop" in the loop to post the price of their waffles where the patrons could see it?

I ordered a waffle and a cup of coffee, thinking it would be the regular price, and was handed a check for 35 cents to pay. If the price was posted and then I was told the order, it would be my own fault.

We know of no law compelling them to post the price.

Said contract changed hands three times while I was paying for lots. My abstract also contains same clause, so does the warranty deed.

INTRIGUED BY LA FOLLETTE'S ASSAILANT.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The vilifying letter concerning La Follette contributed by one L. B. Ring in today's Voice of the People intrigues me. It is apparently inspired by your correspondent's dope on the Wisconsin primary campaign, but even that prejudiced observer did not go so far as to compare his self-styled "Boss" La Follette with the Athenian demagogues. With "Big Bill," the standardized, honest to goodness Pharisae, at such close range, why go back to Athens, Mr. Ring? Kindly give us the "low down" on this string of allegations you make. For instance, when and where were the secret pre-primary conventions held in the Badger state?

JOHN W. COLLINS.

SURPRISED AND IRRITATED BY THE BOSS HIMSELF.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—It was with great interest that I read the article in today's "Fox Pop" by our friend Mr. Elmergreen of Milwaukee, Wis., eulogizing Wisconsin's fire-eating senator.

While summering in northern Wisconsin a few weeks ago I had the opportunity of listening to this hot-headed radical and his antagonistic ideas of managing the government. At Sturgeon Bay the theater where Fighting Bob was to speak was crowded to overflowing and by the end of the evening there were nearly two hundred seats vacant, with scarcely a handful of curiosity-seekers left. The audience comprised for the most part farmers from places other than Wisconsin, and indeed it was quite a treat to listen to this gentleman defending his self-styled Americanism and the embarrassment he underwent when this country went into the war.

The thing that surprised me the most and irritated most of his audience was the fact that he sympathized to the last end with the striking miners and railway men, and told them not to give up.

CHARLES NOTER BALDWIN.

A SATISFIED WOUNDED VETERAN.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Based on hearsay, occasional stunts are appearing against the U. S. War Veterans bureau. In this connection may the writer be pardoned for relating his own experiences? He has been in hospitals since the summer of 1918 practically all the time, an experience covering eleven hospitals, including Chatham Square and the Jackson Park hospital, and a spirit of smiling kindness prevails. H. F. JOHNSON, Ex-captain 140th Field Art., A. S. F.

FOR AN AMERICAN FASCISTI.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Permit me to compliment you on the spirit of fair play which you have shown through the publication of the article by your Italian correspondent, Dr. Sano, on the activities of the Fascisti of Italy.

Contrary to the impression of many Americans, the Fascisti are anything but a revolutionary organization. The purpose of a thing necessary. They do not strengthen the government, which might otherwise vacillate in handling the people and organizations which are inimical to a good government. It is also not in any sense a Ku Klux Klan which operates in the dark. Its membership, now over a million, represents the best that is in Italy—the boys who saved the country and wish to keep it.

DR. WYNEKOOP CALLS ROE TALES BRAIN DISORDER

Recent Theories Built on Rumor Long Exploded.

Dr. Gilbert H. Wynekoop, who attended Dr. J. Newton Roe in the Illinois hospital which resulted in death more than a year ago, yesterday asked a halt of the circulating rumors that in the last few days he had been seen in the United States, while a "substitute" for the doctor who attended Dr. Roe's tombstone in a cemetery at Valparaiso, Ind.

Dr. Wynekoop issued a formal statement after he became convinced that "several newspaper writers apparently are taking with each other in an effort to see which can let their imaginations run farthest afield."

Statement by Dr. Wynekoop.
Dr. Wynekoop's statement, issued yesterday after two afternoon papers had presented new "angles," each entirely different from the other, reads: "This is to certify that I attended the late Dr. J. Newton Roe during his last illness, and owing to the wild rumors that have been running riot during the last few days, I feel it my duty out of self-respect to state a few facts. In the first place, the rumor to the effect that he is not dead is absolutely absurd and originated in some diseased mind."

Again Becomes Ill.
"On April 27, 1921, Dr. Roe took ill with a violent hemorrhage from the stomach at the Plaza hotel and was given first aid by Dr. J. C. Quitmeyer, who then sent him to the Lake View hospital at his request. Dr. Roe died there on May 1, 1921, and I was called to the hospital at his request. Dr. Roe died there on May 1, 1921, and I was called to the hospital at his request."

"It is my good name that is on the dotted line of Dr. Roe's death certificate, and I will not let such contemptible rumors go unrefuted. It would be a strange coincidence if Mrs. Hattie Roe, his wife, would not be able to identify her husband, dead or alive, and to my personal knowledge she visited the files undertaking rooms and viewed the remains of Dr. Roe, as did a large host of his many friends."

"I challenge any one in the world to produce one scintilla of evidence to the effect Dr. Roe is not dead. . . . In conclusion, I wish to be extended the courtesy of not being misquoted. GILBERT H. WYNEKOOP."

GUN CLUB SHOOT$779 INTO ICE AND CAMP FUND

Biggest Contribution of Year; Need More.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The biggest single gift this season to the Algonquin camp and the Free Ice fund was received yesterday from the Lincoln Park Gun club, returns from the trap shooting tournament on Aug. 5 and 6.

The amount was $779.54. It will go in equal shares to the Algonquin camp and the Free Ice fund. This is the second annual shoot given for the benefit of Chicago's poor mothers and children. The men who compose the Lincoln Park Gun club are big, generous-hearted business men who are lighted in boosting the fund $140 in donations in addition to the admissions and sales.

Tribune Men Help.
Another generous and appreciated gift came from the men of the composing room of The Tribune plant. The total was $55 divided equally between the two funds. Harry Wynne of this composing room gave $5 of the amount in memory of his wife, the late Mrs. Margaret Wynne. Philip L. Barker, who sent in the check in behalf of his fellow workers, announced that another installment is coming later.

Not so big, but showing the right spirit, was a gift of $1 from the Boys' club at Michigan City, Ind. A note came in signed by Sanford Booth, president, and Russell Stoddard, secretary and treasurer, saying the $1 had been earned by giving a play on the beach. The father of a 13 year old girl was injured in falling from a scaffold five years ago, and since he has been able to work only occasionally. The mother and five children have just spent two weeks at Algonquin.

Her Letter.
"We arrived quite safe, but mother was very tired," the girl wrote from camp. "This is the happiest time of our lives. We think it is lovely out here and everybody is so nice. There is a grand swimming pool and such lovely teachers. We have hikes and campfires in the evenings. Will I ever be able to thank you for your kindness to mother and myself? Mother said she doesn't think she will ever be able to repay you." The following are the receipts to the two funds:

Ohioans Point with Pride; Ohioans View with Alarm

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Charges that the Republican administration at Washington has repudiated its campaign pledges of 1920 and that great part of the legislation by the present congress had been for the benefit of big business rather than the ordinary citizen, Senator Pomerene, delivering the keynote address at the Democratic state convention here today, predicted a Democratic victory in November.

After March 4 next there will be one Democratic senator in Washington from Ohio, and more than half of the house delegation from Ohio will be Democratic, he said.

Criticizes Tariff Bill.
Bitter criticism of the Republican tariff bill, which he termed "the greatest piece of 'pork barrel' legislation in the history of congress," formed the major part of the address, which also touched upon what Senator Pomerene declared was the complete failure of the administration to enact constructive legislation. Republican revenue legislation placed the burden of taxation upon persons and businesses of smaller income and relieved wealthy persons and corporations earning excessive profits, he declared.

The only passing mention of the Newberry case and other senatorial matters was made by Senator Pomerene, who declared that he had "no apology to make for what I have said or done at Washington" and that during the campaign he would give the voters of Ohio the opportunity to distinguish between false charges on the one hand and facts on the other.

Reps State Administration.
Turning to the present state administration, Senator Pomerene said that, like the national administration, it had failed to fulfill its promises.

In his condemnation of the tariff Senator Pomerene charged that it would increase the cost of living, destroy the foreign commerce of the country, through the powers given the President, put more government in business rather than less, and that it was neither "just, fair, nor impartial."

It is also foreshadowed that the prime minister may remind France that it already has 52 per cent of all that Germany has paid and that it seems to forget that the allies helped it to recover Alsace-Lorraine, get coal from the Saar, and to obtain many other benefits.

RUSSIANS SENT OUT OF TURKEY ON U. S. DOLLARS

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 20.—An Utopian vision shattered: Dreamers are finding this truly expressed in Constantinople, where the league of nations is spending American dollars in a valiant effort to send idle Russians to places where they don't want to go. When the American Red Cross oftered to go fifty-fifty on the cost of transportation for these Russians to somewhere else, that glorified body, the league of nations, accepted with enthusiasm and exerted itself in the tremendous effort of raising $150,000, its share of the fund.

But European budgets were being too heavily bled for military adventures to subsidize anything so benevolent as relieving Constantinople of its cabaret entertainers. Fifty thousand dollars was all the league could raise. The British government, not desiring the project to fall through, kicked in with another $50,000 and, there still being a deficit in the league's donations, the American relief administration was called in to provide a general relief fund for a period of four months, during which the work could be carried on.

The league's donations amount to one-sixth of the total, but when the organization was formed it was the league which had charge. Under the direction of a Britisher, Col. Proctor, a personnel was engaged.

A young American transportation expert, available for temporary employment, asked for the place at a financial sacrifice because he was interested in the work. He was regrettably told that the organization had been completed and had no place.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY REPLY TO POINCARÉ TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Aug. 22.—[By Tribune Wireless.]—Premier Poincaré's Bar le Duc speech was the sole subject of conversation in British political circles today, and it is regarded here as a fresh effort on the part of the French premier to prove to his people that he has not fallen under the charm of Prime Minister Lloyd George.

Mr. Lloyd George will speak tomorrow at the unveiling of the war memorial at Colchester and, while it is said he has no intention of replying to M. Poincaré, it would not be surprising if he seized the opportunity to outline again the British policy towards France and Germany. He is expected to declare that Great Britain is equally anxious with France to make Germany pay, but that some of the expedients suggested by France are fantastic and are not likely to produce cash.

It is also foreshadowed that the prime minister may remind France that it already has 52 per cent of all that Germany has paid and that it seems to forget that the allies helped it to recover Alsace-Lorraine, get coal from the Saar, and to obtain many other benefits.

BIG SUGAR FRAUD ALLEGED, SEIZE SHIP IN TURKEY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 22.—An echo of the $1,000,000 sugar fraud for which officials of the Cosmo Commercial Imperial Navigation company were arrested on July 13 was heard in Constantinople today when, with the arrival of the steamer Skogheim, bills of lading were presented for more sugar than the vessel carried. About 6,000 bags consigned here are missing.

The captain was entirely cleared. None of the bills of lading bore his signature. They were indorsed by Dan F. Leary as the leading agent and representative of the Imperial company, and they were again initialed by him for the bags supposed to have been received on board.

The Skogheim's cargo apparently comprises only a small part in the alleged fraudulent operations. The cargo is being held in bond while ownership is being established. The documents were negotiated by the Guaranty Trust company, the Bank of Athens, and the Bank of Saloniki.

AUSTRIA COST OF LIVING MOUNTS
7,000 PER CENTAdjust Wages Monthly to Meet Increase.This is the fourth of a series of articles
by Mr. Ray on Austria.

BY LARRY RUE.

By The Chicago Tribune.]
VIENNA, Aug. 22.—The high cost of living in Austria, owing to the fact that it must import her food requirements, mounts with the rise of prices.

Efforts through government subsidies to better living conditions, and the like—are still insufficient, while the working class, somewhat better off, have constantly been on the ragged edge of starvation.

After the government three months ago adopted an index system for the adjustment of wages each month to the rise in prices, the situation has improved considerably, but still the workers hold the C. L.
demonstrations every Sunday directed against the Jews and profiteers.

Cost Per Cent Increase in Costs.
An index shows a 7,000 per cent increase in the cost of living from January 1919 to Aug. 1 this year; from July 1919 to Aug. 1, a 50 per cent increase was shown. During July the average wage was 350,000 kronen, and the cost of living was 350,000 kronen, which means that the wage had to meet the cost of living.

For one pound of flour, 3,400 kronen;
potatoes, 500; beef, 5,000; butter, 2,400;
eggs, each 5,000; a suit of clothes, second quality, 400,000; shoes, 75,000; a ton of coal, 80,000.

The kronen was worth 11,000 to 11
in May, during June it dropped from 11.00 to 12.00; in July from 22,000
to 24,000; while during this month it has dropped in sympathy with the mark to 24,000.

Jobless Riot in Vienna.
VIENNA, Aug. 22.—(By the Associated Press.) A spontaneous demonstration of unemployed workers yesterday morning betrayed the high tension now existing in Vienna. Iron window shutters crashed down as if by magic and the populace flocked from the streets. The police turned out in force but beyond a few easily suppressed scuffles there were no disorders.

The unemployed men, however,
served an ultimatum that if their demands for reduced food prices to the unemployed were not granted the police will not be able to stop them a second time from giving vent to their displeasure.

The latest falling against foreigners which has recently become more manifest, after expression today in the ultimatum which demands that foreigners be temporarily excluded from Vienna and that those already here be given eight days in which to leave.

gagement of his daughter, Kathleen, to Thomas J. Broderick, son of Mr. and

New Plan for Rescue

Chancellor Seipel was at Prague placing similar proposals before Premier Benes and later goes to Italy for a final discussion with Sig. Schanzer.
The suggestion has been made that Italy take over Austria under an economic protectorate in the form of a customs union whereby the two countries would have only one customs boundary. This is favored by Count Csernay, former Austrian foreign minister. He says the solution of middle Europe's problems is a customs union embracing Italy, Austria, and Czechoslovakia, and the active exchange of goods thus saving of the exchange rate differences.

Diplomatic circles emphasize that,
although the project of Austria's absorption into a more stable power would be an economic solution, it is politically impracticable as France would refuse the union with Germany, Yugo-Slavia would not tolerate an amalgamation with Italy, and Hungary would fight a combine with Czechoslovakia.

U. S. AND JAPAN PUT EMBARGO ON ARMS TO CHINA
TOKYO, Aug. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—A strict embargo against the shipment of arms into China from either the United States or Japan will be enforced, it has been learned from authoritative sources here. As the Washington conference Italy found herself unable to subscribe to the agreement against such shipments to the troubled republic,
but negotiations to make the embargo more general have been reopened.

BELATED LINER
AGAIN DELAYS
MAYER FUNERAL

Failure of Mrs. Levy Mayer to reach
New York yesterday as had been anticipated, caused the date for funeral services for Mr. Mayer, famous Chicago attorney, who died suddenly a week ago, to be placed in doubt again.
Mrs. Mayer was traveling in Europe at the time of Mr. Mayer's death. She sailed for home on the Majestic from Cherbourg Wednesday. The vessel did not arrive yesterday, but supposedly will dock this morning. It was delayed twelve hours by engine trouble.
A date for the funeral services will not be set until Mrs. Mayer is consulted after reaching Chicago.

A committee to represent the Illinois State Bar association at Mr.
Mayer's funeral was named yesterday by Bruce A. Campbell, president. On the committee are Samuel Alschuler, Jesse Holdom, Max Pam, Charles S.
Cutting, Edward Eagle Brown, Frank
F. Reed, John T. Richards, Nathaniel
C. Sears, Edgar B. Tolman, Edwin W.

SWIFT MUST GIVE UP ALL STOCK IN DIXIE CONCERNS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The federal trade commission today directed Swift & Co. of Chicago to divest itself of all capital stock of the Moultrie Packing company of Moultrie, Ga., and the Andalusia Packing company of Andalusia, Ala., on the ground that the acquisition of the stock was in violation of the Clayton act.

The commission found, it was announced, that Swift & Co. in 1917 acquired by purchase practically the entire outstanding capital stock of the Moultrie and Andalusia concerns.
Swift & Co., under the order of the commission, is also required to cease from further suppressing competition in trade heretofore existing between the Moultrie and Andalusia companies.

Worth of Chinese Wines
San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—Consignments of Ng Ka Py, a Chinese wine valued at more than $7,000,000 by their owners, stored in warehouses here, may be poured into the sewers as a result of an order issued by the secretary of the treasury. (The fluid has had a varied course through the "medical" and "beverage" classifications of the federal dry enforcement officers for several years.)

May Destroy $7,000,000

The body of Perry Ribalotta, 10 years old, 1003 Felt street, was found in the lake yesterday at the foot of Walton place. The boy was reported missing Saturday.

When Old Dutch comes in the dirt goes out

When you clean your crockery use Old Dutch Cleanser, and notice what a sweet, clean job it does. Its flat, flaky particles go everywhere, and take out the dirt. Old Dutch brings you these cleansing particles, just as they are mined from the earth.

Old Dutch cleans without scratching or injuring a surface. It erases the dirt; gets into every corner and tiny scratch and leaves only cleanliness and sweetness behind.

Old Dutch is economical because the flat, thin, flaky particles clean a great amount of surface with a small amount of work. A little Old Dutch goes a long way.
Use it for all cleaning.

And remember, Old Dutch can't roughen even a delicate skin because it contains no lye or acids.

Use Old Dutch to
keep things clean—
Use it regularly

UNLESS the furniture
you buy is "good furniture" you'll be sorry you bought it, sooner or later.

It's easy to be misled by prices; but you know that "good" quality is more costly than poor quality. The important thing is to be sure of its being good, and then get it at as low a price as you can.

We make the special point of insuring quality; Scholle-quality is our way of saying that we know what the goods are. It is such quality that we're very sure nobody can reasonably be sorry that he bought it.

But if anybody is sorry, or thinks the furniture isn't as good as he thought it would be, or as good as we believe it to be, we can always refund the money and take the goods back.

During this sale our prices are very low; we marked them down to add to the value our customers get.

JOHN JIM DAVIS
FROM 'PIT' TO CABINET TOLD
Gives Life Story in
"The Iron Puddler."

President Harding was formed in the winter of 1900, long over the selection of a permanent successor to the presidency of labor. There were any number of applicants for the position, but the tide was the personal choice of Mr. Harding. Davis was the man chosen. I can trust that his history, as told in the new book, is reported to have been a labor leader, but merely a head of the Moose fraternity. "I told his history," said the friends of the new appointee.

"The Iron Puddler."
Davis' history has not yet been told by all that might profit by it. The opportunity is given in a book, "The Iron Puddler," which the secretary of labor has written and which is being offered for sale for 10c. The book is the history of the life of the "Iron Puddler," as both Mr. Davis and the publishers have given up their profits for this charity. Moose members and their wives and sisters will find this book in the homes of the "Iron Puddler" and other steel workers. The book is the life story of Mr. Davis, written that his son might know the life from which the father was drawn and with no other purpose or intention.

The "Pit" was a southern peon where he and other hungry men had been kept by a slave driver. "I told his history," said the friends of the new appointee.

Blind Chaplain Dies
DR. HENRY N. COUDEN.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The Rev. Dr. Henry N. Couden, aged 73, blind chaplain of the house of representatives for 25 years until Feb. 23, 1921, died today at his residence at Fort Myer, Va. He had been ill nearly nine months. Dr. Couden was born in Indiana and was educated in the state school for the blind at Columbus, O., and the divinity school of St. Lawrence university, at Clinton, N. Y., and was ordained a Universalist clergyman in 1878. He served more than two years in the Union army during the Civil war, and was discharged because of the wound which caused his blindness. He became chaplain of the house in 1895 during Cleveland's administration.

DAWN OF CUBAN GREATNESS SEEN IN REFORM PLAN
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—After many months of confusion and uncertainty, the reconstruction of Cuba's political and fiscal affairs is nearing completion on a basis which state department officials regard as promising an era of restored confidence and tranquility throughout the island republic. The reform program, in the drafting of which Cuban officials have had the constant aid of Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder of the American army, is said in advice received here to have reached a stage where reestablishment of governmental and financial stability appears to be assured for the near future. Numerous changes in the government machinery, making possible the retirement of fiscal and judicial officials who stand in the way of needed reforms, are coupled in the reorganization plan with a sweeping rehabilitation of the entire tax collecting and disbursing system of the public treasury. In a statement detailing the entire restoration program tonight the state department manifested thorough satisfaction with the turn taken by Cuban affairs, and predicted that a proper execution of the plans now agreed upon among Cuban officials undoubtedly would go far toward "normalization and the betterment of business conditions generally." No mention of Gen. Crowder was made in the statement, but officials of the Washington government have not concealed their admiration for the work he has done in Cuba since he was sent there to give advice. Neither did the statement mention from what source the proposed loan is to be derived, although it is known that negotiations have been in progress to interest international bankers in New York in such a financial agreement as would again give to Cuba a recognized standing in international financial relations.

The Wear Is In A Roof —Not On It
The service you get from asphalt roofing depends on the toughness and durability of the impregnated felt that gives it body and strength. A roof doesn't wear down; it wears out. Long life is built into Flex-A-Tile Roofing. FELT-FIRST. Felt-making is an art in itself—an art that more than 50 years of Richardson experience has reduced to a science.

FLEX-A-TILE ROOFING
In Flex-A-Tile Shingle Roll Roofing you get the very best grade of slate-surface roll roofing with an unusual added feature—the appearance of individual Giant Shingles, molded on. Shingle Roll gives the beauty of an asphalt shingle roof at less than half its cost. The double coating of crushed stone from our own quarries at Flex-A-Tile, Georgia, furnishes a rich coloring of weathered Brown or natural green (red if you prefer), which has added permanent beauty to permanent shelter in thousands of Chicago house-tops. Flex-A-Tile Shingle Roll Roofing can be laid right over old wood shingles by anyone who is handy with tools. It lies flat and stays flat. national exposition at St. Louis in 1904, is the most beautiful building on the grounds. A replica of it was built subsequently at the southern end of the city's great central boulevard, dedicated to the friendship between the United States and Brazil.

The Avenida Central, now Avenida Rio Branco, was created in 1905 by Dr. Lauro Muller, a military engineer, at a cost of $30,000,000. Every building in the survey fixing the alignment of the new thoroughfare, 500 ft. in all, was razed. They have been replaced by modern buildings of marble and granite. In the work of demolition, grading paving and planting of ornamental trees, 5,000 men were employed in three eight hour shifts, or 10,000 men daily. The work was completed in six months.

The famed Avenida Beira Mar (by the sea) begins at the foot of the Avenida Rio Branco and extends along the winding shore of the bay a distance of five miles. At the juncture of the two thoroughfares stands an impressive granite monument of monolithic design. To the right is the Monroe palace and to the left will be erected a temporary building for Argentina, immediately to the east of which is the new embassy and exposition building of the United States.

U. S. Buys Part of Site.
Part of the grounds set apart for the use of the United States has been purchased outright by Uncle Sam. The purchase of the embassy grounds was negotiated by United States Ambassador Edwin V. Morgan. The total ground area of the building site, purchased for about $60,000, is approximately 20,000 square feet.

A temporary building will adjoin the permanent structure at the rear. It will provide for eight display booths. The permanent building will house twelve display booths. In the rear of the embassy site is additional vacant ground, upon which Col. D. C. Collier, commissioner general, obtained an option to permit the erection of an outdoor pavilion for the display of motion pictures illustrative of the industries, national resources, great achievements, and scenery of the United States.

SEPTEMBER FIRST VOGUE
Autumn Millinery and Vogue Designs for Limited Incomes

THE Autumn Fabrics and Vogue Designs for Limited Incomes Number, dated September first, is ready now. Before you plan your autumn clothes, you must know the new French blisters fabrics—satin glacier, cloy, matelasse and the smart colors and weaves in the American wool and silk fabrics—they are all passed in review.

Then you must consider the fact that the lengthened skirt has definitely become the mode and consequently has changed the line of nearly everything a woman wears. Vogue has pages of last-minute sketches from Paris that show where and how much lines are altered.

Then you will realize that this radical alteration in the silhouette will mean an unusual expenditure, and will find that Vogue has several pages of clever contrivings and planings that make one dress allowance dollar do the work of several at the very least!

Then there is a generous supply of Vogue's designs for the seamstress; a review of the social season at Newport; a group of dark silk frocks that may be purchased for immediate wear; and a quantity of other things that make this issue most useful.

You couldn't spend thirty-five cents to better advantage possibly! Buy it at the nearest news stand now!

Home again, home again from a foreign shore.
And if it only would be cool
Well like our job much more.
"However," Polyna would remark,
"There's always something to be thankful for. And," she would probably contend, just bubbling over with enthusiasm, "how perfectly WONDERFUL it is to come home to a brand new Rodol Valentino picture! Just THINK," she would say, "how we girls would brave heat and thunderstorms and strikes, and AND rail to get to see that picture—and it wouldn't be our JOB, either!"

Quite right, Polyna—and if you want a little advice before you go to see the picture, why—Go see it—provide your mother is willing.
You will find it a laughing, throbbing, tragedy shadowed romance of the bull ring; its hero a torador who worships his wife with a clean, white devotion, but becomes the victim of a mad infatuation for another woman.
Ask what you please, for against Valentino—give him something to act in—and he can act. This story by Dumas has kept him on his tiptoes. As the torador he is a dashing gamin, bold, hearty, passionate, superstitious child of sunny Spain, idol of the Spanish people, for whom he debonairly provides thrill after thrill in the arena. Like and unafraid he is until his eyes meet the flaming eyes of the stern who is to be his bad genius.

Like Kipling's immortal "rag, bone, and hank of hair," she doesn't care—just the DOES like to experiment. Juan, Gallardo suffers and doesn't understand, and, trying to understand, loses his cunning. In a moment of weakness that is not daring her cousin to the end which, sooner or later, the author believes is dealt to those who live by pandering to cruelty.
Valentino as Juan, the idol, fills the role with luring romance. When the Americans in the café ask, "Who is that man?" he permits to the hero several moments of crude and boyish bragadoocio. His Juan in the arena's drawing room is gauche and uncomfortable. These touches are the sure trademarks of the artist.
Lila Lee as the wife passes pathetically and lightly through the story. Nina Naldi—venation huntress—is a revelation in herself. Gloria Swanson as Gloria would like to be, perhaps, as Alla Nazimova as she thinks she is.

There are many "bonny bits" of work on the part of the supporting cast—Juan's mother, for instance—and the tale as told pictorially is full of action and color, excellently staged, and directed. As in "The Four Horsemen" there was the Dreamer, in "Blood and Sand" there is the Philosopher. I found him unnecessary—but that's no sign that you will. Polyna would say, "That is no sign that you will."

CLOSEUPS.
Vincent Coleman, it is whispered, is engaged to a young woman of "Ed Wynne, the Perfect Fool" musical show. All right with you!
"When Love Comes of Age" is to be Helen Jerome Eddy's first starring venture.

Clara Landis who always plays small roles so satisfactorily is to be made a star by Film Booking Offices of America.
The Vitaphone lot in Hollywood is said to resemble at present the "days." Reason? Corinne Griffith's new picture, "One Night in the Sahara," and one cannot love properly in the Sahara (on the Sahara) without the accompaniment of mounted gentlemen in flowing robes. And the mounted gentlemen must have horses.

The Old Carriage Maker Had an Important Truth

"To make each part as strong as the rest," was his way of "building a wonderful, one-horse chaise that wouldn't wear out till judgment day."

This illustrates a fact that is keeping many doctors busy these days—human bodies, like chaises, break down because some part isn't as strong as the others.

Very often it's because of ill-balanced food, lacking in some important element of nutrition. This is especially true of ill developed in childhood, and carried on through life.

Grape-Nuts, that world-famous, ready-to-eat cereal, brings the plan of building each part as strong as the rest—to serve human need. Grape-Nuts contains all the nutrient of those best of the field grains, wheat and barley, including the vital mineral elements, and it is a wonderful food for building and sustaining health and strength.

The delicious flavor and crispness of Grape-Nuts make it a welcome dish whenever you're hungry.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My niece, Zeina, stood watching me putting on my earrings. My ears are pierced.

"Aunt Margaret, do you put those right through your ears?"
"Yes," I replied.
"O, that's right. You have ready made holes in your ears, haven't you?"

Nelly had come over to stay awhile with us on Sunday. She was busy looking around and we did not ask her to sit down. After awhile she said she guessed she would go home.

"Don't you like to stay with us?"
"O, yes," she replied, "but I get tired standing up all the time."
J. B.

Virginia was to celebrate her birthday soon.
When a visiting friend asked her age, Virginia hesitated.

"Four," she answered slowly; then triumphantly added, "But soon I'll have a birthday cake and hop right off of four into five."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published as "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address: Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Taking It Easy.
While taking dictation I sometimes remain seated at my desk while the dictator sits at a desk opposite.

I was uncomfortable in a pair of new pumps one day and during dictation I quietly slipped my feet out of the pumps.

I quite forgot that the side panel of my desk did not reach to the floor as did that of the opposite desk and when I glanced up I saw the boss gazing with a surprised expression at my unshod feet.

M. J. H.

How Was He to Know?
My wife and I had invited the couple next door for Sunday dinner. When the meal was about to be served my wife told our neighbor's wife, who was helping her in the kitchen, that she had forgetten to order bread for dinner and neglected to bake the day before.

Whereupon our neighbor voluntarily ran home for a loaf of her own baking.

Of course I knew nothing of this and at table I said, "Jean, this bread isn't as good as you usually bake."

"Jean didn't bake this, I did," said the neighbor.

Taking It Easy.
While taking dictation I sometimes remain seated at my desk while the dictator sits at a desk opposite.

I was uncomfortable in a pair of new pumps one day and during dictation I quietly slipped my feet out of the pumps.

I quite forgot that the side panel of my desk did not reach to the floor as did that of the opposite desk and when I glanced up I saw the boss gazing with a surprised expression at my unshod feet.

M. J. H.

How Was He to Know?
My wife and I had invited the couple next door for Sunday dinner. When the meal was about to be served my wife told our neighbor's wife, who was helping her in the kitchen, that she had forgetten to order bread for dinner and neglected to bake the day before.

Whereupon our neighbor voluntarily ran home for a loaf of her own baking.

Of course I knew nothing of this and at table I said, "Jean, this bread isn't as good as you usually bake."

"Jean didn't bake this, I did," said the neighbor.

CORN IS LEADER IN GRAIN MARKET; CLOSE IS HIGHER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Corn came to the front as the market leader yesterday, the government forecast for another warm year in the west with prospects of excessive precipitation and hot winds in the southwest bringing in general buying. A fair break followed a small advance early and it was not until noon that the big upward movement got under way. At the outside corn advanced 1 1/2 cents over the low point with the close 1/4 cent higher. Wheat fluctuated rapidly within a range of 3/4 cent and closed 1/4 cent higher, while oats were up 1/4 cent and rye 1/4 cent.

Liverpool wheat closed 1/4 cent higher, the break of the previous day carrying values below a parity with Chicago, and the bulls represented readjustment in the market. There was no material change on the market, although local selling made a decline of 3/4 cent from the high point at one time. The surplus was taken out of the pit on the break by commission houses and when corn started upward it was stamped and found offerings limited.

Seaboard House Good Buyers. At one time September wheat sold at the same figure as the December, the covering of a large line when selling orders were scarce being a factor. Shorts in the September were supplied ultimately by growers who sold that delivery and bought the December. Houses with seaboard connections were good buyers of futures despite talk of a very slow foreign demand.

Damages reports of increasing severity are being received regarding the open crop in the northwest and with temperatures of 100 and over with hot winds the outlook there is less promising, but it took comparatively little buying to start values upward around noon, and a number of big short lines were covered on the way up. A reaction came toward the last when some of the recent buyers started to take profits.

Offs were dominated by the action of corn and averaged higher. Receipts and cash demand fair.

Rye Holds Narrow Range. Rye held within a narrow range and while there was some buying by the seaboard it was offset by northwestern hedging pressure. The two northwestern markets had 408 cars, 200 to 250.

Scattered liquidation was on in September and was changed over to October at 10 cent difference. Liverpool cash was weak and barely higher. Lard closed to lower to unchanged and rice higher. Prices follow:

ARMOUR-WILSON MERGER TALK

PACKING BASIS

BY O. A. MATHER.

The report that a merger of Armour and Wilson & Co. two of the "Big Five" packing house concerns, is being worked out, has again been mentioned today. Last April Time Magazine stated that Mr. Armour and Mr. Wilson had discussed the possibility of a consolidation. It may be that there have been other discussions since but that nothing definite has been worked out.

The fact of the matter is that the big packing houses are not likely to be merged. The fact is that the big packing houses are not likely to be merged. The fact is that the big packing houses are not likely to be merged.

At last, any packing house consolidation would take several years to work out. In the meantime, it is the belief of those who have been working on the matter that the packing houses are not likely to be merged.
